

Why not let the individuals decide whats good for themselves. Must big business always have to intrude on peoples lives? The do not call list is a good deal. It seperates the person from the intruder.